We're therefore offering these cars at wholesale to the retail trade.

Warning

We positively refuse to sell any of these cars to outside dealers. We want the retail buyer to take advantage of the $180 to $350 profit that would be made by the outside used car dealer in reselling these cars.

Post office broken into; nothing taken

Junior golfers' deadline set

Junior golfers at Statesboro have until July 15 to post four of the best scores for one of the Junior Golf Team. The four best scores will journey to Valdosta, the site of the State Golf Tourney, August 2. Those eligible must not have attained their eighteenth birthday August 15, 1955.

Those who have posted qualifying scores are: Ronnie B. 115; Dave Franklin, 77; T. S. Lehman, 77; Tommie Martin, 101; John Dekle, 74; Earl Brown, 80. All junior golfers registered must post 4-eighths rounds by July 15.

The Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce will pay entrance fees for the four winners and the Valdosta and Okefenokee golfers will take care of the rest of the expenses. Housing will be furnished free and morning and evening meals will also be furnished free.

At Valdosta the top four winners in the championship flight will receive a free trip to Columbus, Georgia, the site of the International Jaycee Junior Tournament.

Unknown persons broke into the Statesboro post office sometime Tuesday night, according to Police Chief Benj. F. Allen. The Statesboro police chief stated that following a thorough investigation it was determined that nothing was missing.

He said that the rear window of the post office had been forced open with a screwdriver and another unidentified instrument. Signs indicated that the one entering the post office had first tried to remove window panes by scraping off the putty with a knife.

Bill Adams at Lake Junaluska
Bill Adams, Statesboro, has been appointed to the summer staff of the southeastern Methodist Assembly at Lake Junaluska, N. C.

Adams, who will be a senior at Statesboro High, this fall, is serving on the admissions staff which greets visitors and delegates upon their arrival at the assembly.

Lake Junaluska is the summer program headquarters of the Methodist Church in nine Southeastern states.

The farm of Henry S. Blitch of Statesboro will be visited by representatives of the Agricultural Extension Service, College of Agriculture and the state's fertilizer industry to be studied for fertilizer practices and recommendations.

The Blitch farm is one of four to be visited during the program. All four farmers to be visited are state winners in the grazing system contest. Blitch won the honor for 1955.

At each of the meetings, the farm owner will give a summary of his farm practices, costs and returns. A discussion of fertilizer needs in the area for economical feed production will be given by county agents in Bulloch, Byron Dyer.

"These meetings are a good example of an agricultural agency and industry working together," J. R. Johnson, Extension agronomist explained.

"The events sponsored by the Georgia Plant Food Educational Service and conducted by the Extension Service—were begun eight years ago to help Extension workers and fertilizer dealers make the same fertilizer recommendations to farmers," he pointed out.

God's Winter World

Miss Alice Amason, 13-year-old daughter of Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Hubert Amason, signal supply officer with the 7610th Headquarters and Service Company, Camp Darby, was declared first place winner in the U.S.A.F.'s dependent school's creative writing contest held in Salisbury School, Alice's poem, "God's Winter World," won first place. Here it is:

GOD'S WINTER WORLD

A cold night, a clear night, still and unbroken.
The moon looking down, then hidden behind a cloud
And when the cloud passes, stillness, unbroken.
The falling snow glimmers
In position of W. E. Webb
And Allen E. Webb, leaved on to satisfy a fit in favor of
James B. Averitt and Jessie O.
Averitt against W. E. Webb
And Allen E. Webb issued from the City Court of Statesboro, Bullock county, levied on the fi fa notice of levy and sale having been given to defendant in fi fa
this 5th day of July, 1955.
STOTHARD DEAR, Sheriff,
Bullock county, Georgia,
7-28-41c—No. 81.

Dawn is breaking, snowbirds twittering,
Bursting with joy and glad tidings.
The rising sun looks down upon this peace and smiles lazily.
The light enters the animals' homes,
Sleepy eyes open slowly.
Morning has come.

The mountains in the far-off distance raise
Snowy peaks high into the heavens.
God looks down upon His world and nods,
The day passes peacefully.
God's world unfolds.
The sun begins to disappear beyond the far horizon.
Then comes the night,
A cold night, a clear night, still and unbroken.

IN MEMORANDUM

In loving memory of my precious husband James Dennis Boatright, who passed away today July 8, 1955.
From this world of grief and sorrow,
To a land of peace and rest,
God has taken you dear husband,
where there is everlasting
What happy days we once enjoyed,
When you were here with me,
But, oh how changed it all is
Since you are gone forever,
I miss you now, my heart is sore
As time goes on I miss you
more,
Your loving smile, your gentle
face,
No one can fill your place,
Days of sadness still come
o'er me,
Secret tears do still flow,
But memories keep you ever
near,
Though you died two years
ago,
God save the road was gleaming
rough,
The hills were hard to climb,
He gently closed his weary eyes
And whispered, peace be thine.

STOCKHOLDERS RATIFY GIC'S MOVE TO ACQUIRE CORPORATION IN N. J.

General Instrument Corporation today announced that sufficient proxies (over 51 per cent) already have been received to indicate that the ratification of General Instrument's acquisition of Automatic Manufacturing Corporation of Newark, New Jersey, the move, "should result in continued improvement in the company's financial position, TV and electronics industry."

Combined assets of the company after consolidation will total approximately $14,000,000. The 32-year-old General Instrument Corporation, with assets of $8,749,655 and six plants in the United States and Canada, is a leading producer of television, radio, and electronic components. VHF, UHF and combination VHF-UHF television tuners and automatic radio tuners. Automatic Manufacturing with assets of $5,175,083 and plants at Newark, New Jersey, and Beckley, West Virginia, was acquired by General Instrument in 1950 and is specialized in the development and production of shielded intermediate frequency transformers for the radio and TV industry. Both General Instrument and Automatic Manufacturing are important suppliers of radio equipment and electronic components for defense applications.

Under terms of the agreement, Automatic Manufacturing's total outstanding 1,500 shares have been acquired by General Instrument for $1,500,000. The move was authorized by the board of directors of General Instrument, which owned 1,499 shares of the company's common stock.

Automatic has enjoyed substantial growth since its formation in 1938. The company's operations since 1938 has shown a profit, it was stated. Averages for the last five years reflect approximate yearly sales of $8,749,655 on which profits averaged $462,000, a yield of 5.3 per cent on the 555,000 shares to be added to General's outstanding common stock.

As a result of the acquisition, it was stated, General Instrument's product diversification, further product diversification, close sharing of research and development and product engineering facilities, and the automatic pay raises that are required for teachers who have enhanced their qualifications.

A total of $5,885,000 of the yearly budget will go for teacher pay. Another $500,000 will be budgeted for pupil transportation, and $400,000 for current operating expenses. The same amount was allocated for administrative costs in the new budget as in the last, while small increases were made for textbooks and several other categories. The allotment for supervisory costs was reduced by $150,000, the only cut of any size.

The student-driver issue brought debate before the board finally agreed to "advise" school officials to "employ" teachers or pupils who can drive. The board also agreed to a new budget for the year.

The board also adopted a change in the standard number of pupils per teacher, raising the ratio from 20-to-one to 25-to-one for elementary schools and from 15-to-one to 20-to-one for high schools. It was estimated this will save about $1,200,000 a year.

Board member Irvin Kinney of Clarksville, estimated that plan eventually will save almost five million dollars a year.

Bulloch County Farm Bureau

James E. Davis is president of Ivanhoe Community Club again

JAMES E. DAVIS was elected to succeed himself as president of the Ivanhoe Club for another year at the annual meeting Friday night.

Mr. Davis is the son of the late John W. Davis, who was the first president, named July 4, 1922. James' older brother, John W. Davis, Jr., also served two years as president of this community organization.

WILSON P. GROOVER was named vice president and W. O. Griner secretary and treasurer. The first meeting of this group was held at Mr. Griner's. The purpose of the organization was to not only promote fellowship within the community but to group the members buying and selling activities. They built a warehouse first and then a club house. During the first year they promoted the construction of the Briar Patch meat curing plant, located at Silston. Montrose Graham, health engineer from Ft. Valley had charge of the program Friday night. Mr. Graham discussed the farm water supply and then showed a motion picture on how to take the gambles out of drilling deep wells. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woods, Portals, were visitors at the meeting. Mr. Woods is president of the Portals Farm Bureau.

Plans for two farm tours were discussed during the meeting Tuesday night. One is for Friday, July 8, that will carry to several West Side Farms, as well as into the Ogeechee community, and will be conducted to show the difference various crops make in the community. The time of applying nitrogen seems to also be a major factor in the results obtained. The tour will start from the East Georgia Peanut plant at 9 a. m. and head directly to the West Side community.

It will finish up in the Ogeechee community, terminating at Lehman Franklin's pond for dinner. Frank McGill, extension agronomist from Tifton, will summarize the results seen and enumerate the information found at the experiment station along these lines.

The other tour is planned for July 14, starting at 1:30 p. m. in front of J. W. Anderson's home and will be of Mr. Blitch's farm. This tour will be conducted by the Georgia Plant Food Society, sponsors for the better grazing contest. Mr. Blitch was the state champion this year in this contest. His 210 acres of pastures will be seen, as well as the other crops along the way.

An entertaining film showing such places as Berry School and La Cason Callaway gardens here in Georgia was the West Side program.

Teachers take look at Stewart

The third group of Georgia teachers to observe speed reading class methods at Stewart this month, the elementary school instructors came to see how the course, conducted by the T. I. & E. Center, could be adapted for elementary school use.

Led by Misses Marie Wood and Chas. Edensfield, supervisors of visiting teachers at the Marvin Pittman High School, Statesboro College, the teachers heard Charles C. McGee, T. I. & E. educational advisor, tell of improvements in reading speed and comprehension effected by Stewart's course. They then observed demonstrations of the special sized equipment used to train.

Since 1945, the number of nurserymen in Georgia has more than doubled, and the amount of plants produced in nurseries has tripled.

Georgia Power Company

A CITIZEN WHEREVER WE SERVE

Many a Georgia Power Company employee is a "chairman of the board" in a very real sense. In churches, schools, civic clubs, garden clubs, fraternal orders, you will find power company men and women heading up the committees, serving as board chairmen, and actively working in the ranks.

Our employees take pride in their efforts to be good citizens. They're quick to "boost" the home town, and furthermore they're ready to work in order to make it a better place in which to live. Recall your own experiences with Georgia Power people, and you will realize that they have helped out in almost every worthwhile civic project.

Our employees feel that it is not enough to provide a community with good electric service. They try to serve the community in every other way they can. That is how our employees wrote, with their accomplishments, the company's slogan, which is printed below as part of the company's name.

This 4-Door Beauty is the Newest Hit in Hardtops

You certainly ought to come in and see for yourself why this new kind of hardtop is headed for the best-seller list. It's a Buick Riviera, of course.

Which means the low and rakish look of a Convertible—a solid steel roof overhead—and no center posts in the side window areas to obstruct your view.

But that's only the beginning. Here you get two extra doors. They open to the rear compartment. So no one in the front has to move when someone gets into or out of the rear.

Here you get massive half-pillars on either side on which the front doors latch and the rear doors hinge. (That's why you see no center posts above the door line.)

Here, too, you get wholly new principles in body design and strength that give the extra safety of rock-firm solidity at the top, sides and bottom.

And here—bless those Buick engineers!—you get a lot more room in the rear compartment.

For the 4-Door Riviera gives you over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom—yet with no increase in wheelbase or overall car length.
